

DALLAS ADOPTS OPEN SHOP PLAN

Mass Meeting Decides Against Unions Because of Tieups.

WALKOUT THREATENED

General Sympathetic Strike
Is Being Agitated; Several Are Already Off Job.

DALLAS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Dallas is today an open-shop city, members of the chamber of commerce at which industrial leaders and men prominent in the city's business characterized the "continued agitation and unreasonable demands of local labor unions a menace to the city's welfare."

Several labor leaders attended the mass meeting and protested against the "open shop policy," but were voted down when the question was put to a vote.

The open shop, as approved at the meeting provides that there will be no contracts with labor organizations in Dallas in the future and that union workers shall not be permitted to enforce their closed shop rule—that union men, if they work in Dallas, must work along-side non-union men.

Rumors of a general sympathetic strike to break down the open shop plan are current today. The carpenters and iron workers of the city are already on strike and the central labor council is expected to put the question of a general strike up to other unions the latter part of this week.

A special meeting of the state federation of labor to consider ways and means of combating the open shop plan is also considered likely.

Do you realize the tasks confronting the officers and directors of the Exchange National each business day?

Think of this.

Nineteen thousand people have intrusted their earnings and savings to the care of these men.

This trust is not placed with the idea that the earnings and savings of Tulsa lay idle in a steel vault, but that the officers and directors will allow the people of Tulsa the use of these funds for the prosperity of the community as a whole.

Just now Exchange officials have some $16,000,000 loaned to many thousands of individuals and firms.

What a task it is to keep this vast sum of money safe—yet working for the good of the community.

That no Exchange depositor has ever lost a penny is a source of constant pride to the officers and directors of this bank.

That none shall ever lose is the determination that draws our directors into a meeting every day and causes our officers to weigh carefully the merits of every loan. Its worth a lot to know that 19,000 Tulsans call the Exchange "their bank".
